HEALTHY CHOICES EATING OUT

A HHA PUBLICATOIN

Keep on track while enjoying eating out!

There is no need to stop eating out or having dinner with friends, just make the best choices possible. This program is not about deprivation it's about adopting a healthier way of life with better "health-giving" habits and food choices.

Avoid fast foods Berger chains and look for fresh pizza ovens if you choose the occasional pizza. As a rule, choose veggies and salad over chips but if you are doing well there is no harm in an occasional bowl of freshly cooked chips or baked potato. ners and get to know the best meal choices.

TYPES OF RESTAURANTS WITH BEST & WORST MEAL CHOICES

FRENCH

Choose Olives are the healthy option than bread
Salade niçoise
Mussels (moule) (BUT NOT WITH BREAD)

Combine meat, fish, and seafood with lots of salad or vegetables.
(if needed add in 2 - 3 small potatoes.)

Avoid Creamy or cheesy sauces
Fatty or sugary pastries such as French Apple pie

ITALIAN

Choose Olives are the healthy option to bread or breadsticks Carpaccio
Melon with Palma ham (remove any fat on ham if possible) Artichoke
Grilled meat, fish, and seafood with salads
Antipasti platters (go for vegetable antipasti when possible)
Choose a thin-based pizza and share it with someone. Choose vegetable or lean meat,
Chicken, fish, or seafood toppings
Any tomato-based sauces for meat or fish dishes

Avoid Risotto, pasta, and gnocchi dishes
Cream or cheese-based sauces, including mozzarella.

SPANISH

Choose The meal to be prepared with less olive oil if possible Olives are the healthier option to bread or breadsticks
Any vegetable dish
Spanish omelette
Lean meats with lots of salad

Avoid fatty meats such as sausages, chorizo etc. Paella

GREEK & TURKISH

Choose Lots of salads like Greek salad and grilled fish Kebab with lots of salad (as long as the meat is lean) Stews like kleftiko (Lamb stew)

Avoid Very oily dishes like moussaka
Fatty cuts of meat such as lamb kebab Limit your portions of rice
Very sweet pastries like Kataifi and Baklava

MEXICAN

Choose Salsa dips
Guacamole dips (ask for vegetables, not bread to dip)
Fajitas (have just 1 wrap and avoid sour cream and too much cheese filling)
Any salads or bean dishes

Avoid Sour cream and cheese fillings and pancakes

THAI & CHINESE

Choose Broths

Seafood or vegetables with dips Salads

Meat, fish or vegetable stir-fries or served with separate rice

Ask for a small portion of rice.

Avoid Dishes where rice or noodles are mixed into the dish such as pad Thai or stir-fried rice Jasmine rice

Sweet and sour sauce (sugar-based)

INDIAN

Choose Tandoori dishes are the best choice

Sag channa (spinach and chickpeas)

Lentil dishes (dhal)

Wholemeal chapatti instead of rice or naan bread

Tomato-based sauces like bhuna or lentil-based sauces are best.

Avoid Nahm bread and any dish already mixed with lots of rice. Ghee

Creamy sauces such as korma or masala Sugary mango chutney

AMERICAN, BURGER BAR OR STEAKHOUSE

Choose Barbecued Chicken breast Lean real meat burgers NO WHITE BUT with lots of salad or a small baked potato or 2-3 small new potato or small portions of sweet potato chips

Avoid White buns (take the burger out) and Sugary tomato ketchup, American-style thin-cut french fries Thick sauces like Ranch or Barbecue

NOTES
Fish and Chips

These are always bad news because of the saturated fat content and high cooking temperatures. If you have to have some have no more than 5 chips and remove most of the batter from the fish. Also, mushy peas often have added sugars so ask for fresh vegetables or salad if available

Cheese Platter
Choose soft cheeses like Brie and goats cheese, which are lower in saturated fat than hard cheeses like Cheddar and Parmesan. Have a small amount of blue or strong cheeses. Choose oatcakes rather than crackers or biscuits and celery rather than grapes

Desserts
Almost all restaurant desserts are high in sugar or fat or both. If you just can't resist limiting the damage by sharing a dessert or choosing fresh fruit with sorbet
Sweets & Chocolate

Almost all confectionary is high in sugar, saturated fat or both. If you must have sweets, choose those with no added colourings or flavourings - the more natural the ingredients the better.

The best choices are high-quality high cocoa content (70% or more) and organic if possible. then eat them with a handful of nuts and enjoy a snack that will keep you satiated for some time.
